Breaks As Noses Nears

LOSING SELF-CONTROL for the first time since her conviction with her husband for the murder of a Montreal taxi driver, Mrs. Julia Palmer McDonald, former Mount Vernon girl and Broadway butterfly, cries piteously in a Canadian death house as friends raise funds to save her from the gallows. "I was bad, but I'm not a murderer," is her mournful message home.

Audience Enjoys Tuneful Airs And Chorus Dances

Playing to a capacity house, the cast of Club Mendelssohn's operetta "In the Garden of the Shah" presented their first performance at the California Theatre last night.

From the minute the orchestra, under the direction of Dennis Shaw, began the first notes of the tuneful operetta, until the curtain dropped for the last time on the chorus and principals, the audience enjoyed every moment of the performance.

Elsa Gilbreath Caffee as the leading lady and the irresistible daughter of the Shah Perunah, sang many beautiful numbers. Her professional performance was highly commendable and received much applause.

Wilson Taylor as Ted Harding, the American mining engineer, sang "My Persian Rose" and as the enthusiastic American lover of the Persian Rose, Zohdah, the daughter of the Shah, his acting was impeccable.

Frank Tiller, as Samuel Johnson Jackson, the colored gentleman from Texas, brought down the house with his comic philosophy.

When Mrs. James Stuart as Nowobeh, Zohdah's old nurse, said that he was her African prince whom she had met in a former reincarnation. He replied he was no carnation "anyway you could figure."

Miss Jessie Lambrecht played the charming and clever role of Lolah, the friend and confidant of Zohdah, and won the heart of J. Robert Glass, as Billy Cummings, friend of Ted Harding's, also an American mining engineer.

The baby Persian flowers captured the hearts of those in the audience with their graceful toe dance, daintily garbed in Persian rose costumes designed by Miss Matilda Meyer, dancing instructor.

Miss Matilda Meyer entranced all who viewed her solo dance "In a Persian Market." She wore a beautiful dancing costume of open work flit, made with silken cords of gold.

Frances Cox and Emma Meyer held the interest of the audience with a "Slave Dance." They were garbed in simple dance costumes.

Supervisors Deny Second Van Damme Plea For Span

MARTINEZ, Feb. 20.—Denied a franchise ten days ago for construction of a bridge joining Contra Costa and Marin Counties, the Richmond-San Rafael Ferry company renewed its plea before the Board of Supervisors today for a span permit but it failed of favorable action when the board voted adversely four to one.

The ferry company's plea for further consideration by the supervisors was presented before a gathering of representative Richmond business men, who came here for the announced purpose of lending moral support to the ferry company's plea.

At the same time the supervisors deferred final action on the franchise grant to Roy O. Long of Berkeley for construction of a $15,000,000 bridge joining the two counties, the delay being made on the request of Long's attorneys, J. E. Rodgers and A. F. Bray.

The postponement until February 27, was voted after Rodgers reported that the state engineer had expressed doubt as to his authority to pass on the length of the spans in the bridge Long plans because of an opinion by the attorney general on a law enacted at the last legislature. Rodgers declared the state engineer had informed him that he would

HINTS OF BRIBERY CAUSE HUGE SENSATION AT EL CERRITO COUNCIL

DEATH OF ONE CONCEDED IN FERRY MISHAP

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 20.—The Key System Transit company operators of the ferry boat Peralta, today issued a formal statement to the effect that at least one person had been drowned in the near disaster that overcame the transbay ship last Friday night, throwing some 4,000 commuters into a panic.

J. W. Collins, Oakland, is named in the statement as the only passenger on board the Peralta, whose death in the waters of San Francisco Bay has been definitely established.

With five persons still missing and believed drowned, the federal inquiries into the causes of the mishap was in full swing here today. Sensational testimony by Chief Engineer Edward Dyson of the Peralta featured the day's investigation.

Dyson testified that the ballast tanks on the Peralta had not been used for three or four months prior to the mishap.

Captain William H. Rasmussen, master of the ferry boat Hayward which assisted in the rescue work preceded Dyson as a witness. He said that the forward deck of the Peralta shipped water for less than a minute. He asserted that he was reasonably sure that all of the persons swept overboard had been picked up. Meanwhile police are trying to check on the five persons who are thought to have perished. They are:

J. W. COLLINS, Oakland.
DAN PEPPER, Berkeley.
EVELYN KRAFT, Berkeley.
ISABELLE ROBERTSON, Oakland.

It became known today that the Key System company admits no liability in the Peralta accident.

"If it is true that a wave swept the forward deck of the Peralta," said A. P. Nicoletti, assistant claim agent, "that would be an act of God."

Council Adopts Standard Ave. Paving Plans of City Engineer

A part of the street work program was taken up at the meeting of the council last evening and proceedings initiated.

Plans and specifications for the improvement of Standard avenue, to width of 82 feet, were adopted, as was a resolution of intention. The plans call for a broken cushion of four inches, six inches of asphaltic concrete and a two inch wearing surface of asphaltic concrete. This will make a twelve inch pavement, the same thickness as was recently put in on San Pablo avenue.

Lateral sewers for the territory east of Key boulevard in the East Richmond, boulevard tract were discussed and plans and specifications for the work adopted. The work will be taken by Kern, Amador, Ventura, Key, Humboldt, Garvin, Solano, Clinton and Sierra avenues.

The deceased was 48 years of age, a native of California and a resident of Richmond for the past 19 years. He leaves a widow, Elizabeth F. Redmond, manager of the Richmond Maternity hospital, a son William A. Redmond of Richmond, two sisters, Mrs. T. Orne and Miss Eva Donohue, both of San Francisco and two grandchildren.

He was a member of Eclipse lodge of Odd Fellows, Rincon chapter of Native Sons of the Golden West, and the Macabees. Eclipse lodge of Rincon chapter of the Native Sons will have charge of funeral services.

S. P. TO MAKE BUS SURVEY

Shortly before the adjournment of the council last evening the street car problem came up for a short discussion, as a result of information asked by J. M. Bourland of the East Richmond section.

The statement was made that a representative of the Southern Pacific was expected here this week, and he was to make a survey of the situation. The members of the council were in hopes that something of benefit might come of the visit.

Councilman Martin said that to subsidize a line in that section would mean a loss of $1500 per month, that no provision had been made in the budget, for such an emergency, and for the city to carry such a load would mean an increase in next year's tax rate of 38 cents.

SOFT DRINK PERMITS

Soft drink permits for a number of places were considered by the council at its meeting last evening.

E. L. Davis who has taken over the business of M. F. Youm at 1537 Macdonald avenue had the soft drink permit transferred to himself.

W. Larsen was granted a soft drink permit at 1220 Macdonald avenue, in connection with a candy store.

POLICE COURT REPORT

During the past month there were 85 cases handled by the police court and of this number 31 paid fines. In fines and forfeitures, Police Judge C. A. Odell collected $3,067.

STREET ORDINANCE

An ordinance, placing all of the lands acquired in the widening proceedings for Standard avenue, as a part of the avenue, was adopted at the meeting of the council last evening.

ALAMEDA CTY. BOARD FAVORS TOMASINI SPAN

The Alameda county board of supervisors yesterday tentatively granted T. A. Tomasini, capitalist of Larkspur, a franchise to construct an $18,000,000 bridge from Albany to Marin county. Resolutions of intention to award the franchise were passed by the board unanimously.

The franchise will be formally awarded at the next meeting of the board by which Tomasini and his engineers will have amended their plans to provide certain specific features in construction asked by the operators of sea-going ships and sanctioned by the supervisors. W. B. Tyler, representing the Pacific Steamship Association, comprising nineteen ship companies, asked:

1. That four 1500-foot spans with a high-water clearance of 160 feet be built between the Marin shore and Southampton shoal.

2. That two 750-foot spans be built between Southampton shoal and the Alameda county shore at Point Fleming.

3. That a tender system be designed to be built coincident with the construction of the foundation piers.

Representatives of the Matson Navigation Co. were the most out.

A bill designed to "tighten up" the federal restrictions on the peddling of illegal narcotics was introduced by Senator Shortridge (R) of California, yesterday.

Profits from poker were declared taxable by the United States board of tax appeals. The board decided that $56,000 received by L. Weiner over a period of three years from "the operation of poker games" in Mississippi.

The Sixth International Conference of American States closed yesterday in a harmonious paean of self-congratulation.

Senate reaction against "lobbying" took definite form yesterday when the senate judiciary committee favorably reported the Caraway bill requiring the registration of all lobbyists.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh hoped off from St. Louis at 4:16 p. m. yesterday at the head of a cavalcade of six air mail planes, for Chicago. Stops are to be made at Springfield and Peoria.

Second Trial Of Loughheed Starts Today In Martinez

MARTINEZ, Feb. 20.—Second trial of Victor Loughheed, 50, San Francisco author and inventor, on a statutory charge preferred by Miss Esther Leighton, 22-year-old San Francisco newspaper solicitor, will start before a jury in Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie's court tomorrow.

Loughheed was convicted last September of an attempt to commit a statutory offense and was sentenced to San Quentin penitentiary. The conviction was set aside on appeal and the case remanded for a second trial. Soon after his return to the county jail here Loughheed gained his liberty on bail of $1,000.

Prosecution of the case against him was featured by the lack of the complaining witness, her story of an alleged attack upon her being presented through the testimony she gave at the preliminary examination. Subsequently she was arrested on a charge of contempt of court for failure to respond to a subpoena but was freed. County officials declare she will be present at the second trial to press her charges.

The girl claims that Loughheed attacked her during an automobile ride in the Berkeley foothills.

The case will be prosecuted by Deputy District Attorney James F. Hoey, J. E. Rodgers and A. F. Bray are counsel for Loughheed.

The report of the Health Center showed expenditures for the past month of $613.40.

Two Street Lights Ordered Installed

Street lights were asked for and lights were ordered installed at the meeting of the council last evening.

Residents in the vicinity of Amador and Zera avenue asked for a street light at that point.

The petition was referred to the light committee for one week.

Councilman Elmer A. Martin, as chairman of the light committee, recommended the installation of a street light at the corner of Fifty-seventh and Highland avenue and also at the corner of Twentieth and Dunn avenue.

Service Station Permit Requested

At the meeting of the council last evening a petition was read from H. D. Lane asking for permission to install a service station at the southwest corner of Twenty-third street and Barrett avenue.

The matter will be considered by the planning commission during the present week.

Properties Rezoned By City Council

The council at its meeting last evening adopted an ordinance reclassifying certain properties in the city, which had been recommended by the planning commission. Some were changed from the residential zone to commercial zone and other to industrial zone No. 1.

Lee Receives $975 And Will Bare Facts Next Monday Evening

Who sent Philip A. Lee, a member of the council of the City of El Cerrito $975 in gold certificates, who received it back through a letter addressed to a postoffice box at Richmond, and what was the money intended for?

This is the all absorbing question in El Cerrito at the present time, and questions are being asked as to whether other members of the board received like amounts.

LID BLOWS OFF

The lid blew off at the meeting of the council held last evening when a communication was filed by Attorney William F. Huber in which he stated that rumors were current that money had been received by some of the councilmen, and intimated it was either in connection with the paving of San Pablo Avenue, or in connection with a street lighting contract that had been discussed.

TO BARE FACTS

When the communication was read there was a death-like stillness for some moments, Lee arose and stated he had received $975, that he had returned it to the sender, and on next Monday night he would bare all the facts in connection with the matter.

City Attorney Wilbur Pierce said a thorough investigation of the charges should be made and those guilty be prosecuted, and if the members of the council had been accepting money they should be prosecuted for grafting and removed from office.

The bombshell was exploded when City Clerk Alice Morris read the following communication, which had been prepared by Attorney W. F. Huber:

El Cerrito,
Contra Costa County, California.
February 20th, 1928.

To the Honorable
City Council of El Cerrito, Contra Costa County, California.

Gentlemen:

Before broaching the subject of this communication to your honorable body I wish to say that I do not understand how a representative of the people can ever entertain or countenance an offer of reward of any kind from dealers or contractors for his official acts in expending the people's money.

GOLD CERTIFICATES

However, rumors have been for some time current that a large sum of money, in gold certificates, was actually tendered to a member of your honorable body and the same was patently for the purpose of either rewarding for past action in the capacity of trustee or for some future act as such.

One rumor is that the money was distributed just after the street work for the San Pablo Avenue paving job went to bond; another is that a contract for the placing of street lights was in prospect. In reference to the said street work I will remind you that I informed you at the time for protest against approval of said work, that I showed you complete evidence that the data of plans of said work was false and inaccurate and that your approval of the work would result in paying money of the People of the State of California for street paving that was not done.

SCORES METHODS

El Cerrito is becoming the Mecca of self-styled experts and specialists attracted by the free and easy methods of exploitation of the tax payers now in vogue, or attempted.

I trust that you will take such action in investigation and bringing to bar all persons implicated in the tender of the $975.00 above mentioned and that it will result in a damper being put on the divvying exploiters that are marketing improvements that do not improve but impoverish.

Very respectfully,
WM. F. HUBER.

WHAT'S THE USE?

"What's the use?" asked Mrs. Eugenie Zuckert of Scardale, and killed herself.

This unfortunate woman had called on a man for advice about her health.

Unfortunately, she was told something discouraging.

She failed to realize that his depressing opinion might have been based upon a depressed condition of his own mind.

She failed to remember that "while there's life there's hope"; that there is no sickness that may not be cured; and that in spite of the worst possible conditions the human spirit can be happy.

As for any man who gives a woman advice that drives her to suicide, we can only remark again:—

What's the use?

BLONDE, OR BRUNETTE

Blonde girls and brunettes were taken to see a motion picture in a "scientific" experiment to determine the ability of both types to respond to love suggestions.

The results showed, the experimenters declared that brunettes are more susceptible to the gentle passion than are their fair sisters.

To men who have a yen for blondes such a statement will seem like absolute bunk.

Experimenters can slander the blondes from now till the crack of doom. It will make not the slightest difference to the men who love blondes and who find them loving enough to suit their fancy.

If tariff legislation was ever class legislation it is no longer such. It interests the American producer in the North, the South, the East and the West, in the city and in the country. The tariff is no longer a political issue it is an American issue.

There's quite a difference in American politicians and Mexican politicians. The American politician slings mud, while the Mexican politician has a habit of slinging lead. —Jacksonville Times-Union

And it may dawn on the Mexicans that if Lindy can fly from Washington to Mexico City without stopping that several of the boys might be able to do it from the border, if the occasion ever arises.

The clever politician is one who climbs on the rear of the band wagon as it passes and then makes the successful candidate believe he was riving the blamed thing from the start.

A New Jersey woman stoked the furnace on her 101st birthday. It's getting so now that they never grow old.

Little Debs Get Headache Keeping Princes Sorted

New York, Feb. 8, 1928.

Sue dear:

More princes of the house of Hohenlohe.

It was all that the little debs could do to try to remember which Prince Hohenlohe it was who had married Jean Cochran's mother, and which one was, or wasn't engaged to Gloria Morgan

Vanderbilt. And after they had found out just which was which, they were never sure that they could spell it. The one-time Mrs. Clifford Cochran is Princess Clovis Hohenlohe Schillingfurst, while Mrs. Vanderbilt's position future is Prince Hohen-lohe Langebourg—try and keep them straight.

But now there are two others to complicate the situation.

They have into town on the Columbus Sunday, two young princesses of the famous family of Hohenlohe, one of them only on his way around the world, but the other to investigate Palm Beach life, and a few other interesting bits of Americana.

The elder of the two—and, in spite of their long and differing names—is Prince Karl Puerst of Hohenlohe, Bartenstein, 23, and possessed of a speed car. The younger is Prince Albert von Hohenlohe Jagstberg, 21, and merely passing through.

The two princes are young and apparently much better endowed with this world's goods than have been most of the princes who have found their way to our shores. Of course, neither of them has put himself on record as being in the market for a charming young American society girl who comes from a gl-edge family, but those Hohenlo-hes seem to have a way of falling in love with American women.

Prince Clovis Hohenlohe and

Prince Hohenlohe Logebourgh

chose American w dow, grass and otherwise, but this latest invasion of the House of Hohen-lohe is much younger than even the nephew of Queen Marie who fell in love with Mrs. Reginald

Vanderbilt, so they might possibly be interested in debs rather than widows.

Prince Albrecht is really out of the picture, because he and three classmates are ducking right across the continent to catch the Talyo March on February 15, so he won't have much chance to go herless hunting.

But Prince Karl, as soon as his 200 horse-power car ar-ives, is going down to Palm

Beach, and you know, Sue, what chance a real prince, especially one who is not poor and who evidently is out for a good time has mammals who congregate in Palm

Beach these balmy winter days.

ALL FOR BABY.

air of military authority when three wooden cross-stitch soldiers stand on guard to see that they are all ephants in front of him. This amuing job and cloth to protect the table cloth at the child's place are quickly and inexpensively made out of an empty flour bag. A single bag, measuring 36x42 inches, and to be bought for a few cents from almost any baker, will make three bibs, one cover and a small animal pillow, stuffed with cotton and worked in colors with an outline stitch. To remove the stamping, cover the bibbed spots with lard or soak them in kerosene overnight. Then wash the bag out in lukewarm water. The edges of the bibs and cover are button-holed or bound with colored bias tape. The beauty of these articles

Affairs of the Heart and Your Marriage Problems

Dear Patricia Lee:

I simply have to write to you and ask you if I did right. I was working in a small firm for five months and I was the only girl there. There was a young married man there and he respected me for about four months, then he started to get friendly with me. Then one day he asked me for a kiss and I refused. Well, he asked me again and again, and I kept refusing, telling him that I was a good girl. One day we were left alone and while I was going home he took me in his arms and kissed me. He also told me if he wasn't married he would have married me. Well, I slapped his face several times, because going home that night, Dear Miss Lee, I did not understand myself at times. There were times that I hated him and also times that I liked him. Before I realized it, I let him kiss me. Then I began to be ashamed of myself and I told him I was going to leave, and I did. I am sorry in a way that I left because I liked the work, but I had stayed there I was afraid that I would lose my control and would some day give in to this man. Did I do right? ROSE.

DEAR ROSE:

Of course, you did me dear: if you felt you could not trust yourself you were entirely right to leave. Why do we like to play with fire? What is the attraction about the forbidden that makes it more alluring than all the legitimate pleasures we can have for ourselves? That is the only attraction the rather disagreeable young man had for you, Rose. Any man who uses the advantage of working with a girl to force his unwelcome attentions on her is not man enough to love. You could have simply referred the matter to the boss of course, but you felt that you wanted his kisses, degrading and dirty as they were, then you did the right thing. There are many young men worthy of the love of a girl like you; wait for them, and do not cheapen yourself by vulgar flirtations.

WHY I BLUSHED

When I entered a movie house the other night it was very dark, as a picture was being shown. I selected a seat and started to sit down. There was a peculiar noise. I arose hurriedly. I discovered I had sat upon a derby hat, which the maid in the next seat had laid in the seat I selected.

fresh vegetables should be cooked in a small quantity of water and the water boiled down or reduced so that all of it can be served in some way. This vegetable stock contains real food value. Vegetables are usually cooked sufficiently when they feel soft when pricked with a fork. Potatoes sometimes get soggy from carelessness draining. After the water has been poured off, it is a good idea to set them back on the stove a few minutes to dry them.

Onions and cabbage must be cooked in plenty of water because of their strong flavor, but most

Vegetables Will Tickle His Palate
Cooked This Way

Most people are acquainted with the sort of woman who is famous for her angel-food cake and chocolate pie but who says she doesn't know why her husband won't touch vegetables.

After eating one meal at her house any one could suggest the reason. Her cooked vegetables have lost both taste and shape. Her carrots and turnips look pale and soft. They have been boiled until there is no taste left. Her potatoes are wet and in pieces and her husband can't tell whether the dark soggy mess on his right is onions or cabbage.

And yet these vegetables are far more necessary to the diet than fancy cakes and pastries. The chief reason why they are disliked is that they are badly prepared or unattractively served. The cook has become careless. She doesn't bother to wait until the water boils to put the vegetables in the kettle, and, once in, she forgets to take them out until most of the goodness has been boiled away.

THE JAZZ SINGER

NOVELIZED BY
ARLINE DE HAAS

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"THE JAZZ SINGER," starring Al Jolson, is a Warner Bros. pictureization of this novel. It is based upon the play by Samson Raphaelson.

SYNOPSIS

Young Rabinowitz has trained his voice, to sing the Hebrew songs of the Synagogue. On the Eve of the Day of Atonement he finds Jackie singing ragtime in a "beer garden." He skips the child and Jackie runs away. Ten years elapse. Jackie, now Jack Robin, a jazz singer, down on his luck, meets Mary Dale, a dancer, who obtains a part for him in her vaudeville act. Mary returns to New York to star in a musical comedy. She wires Jack, offering him a part in the show. He returns home first, but the Cantor hears him playing jazz and orders him out.

"Our Jackie is gone, Yoselie," Mrs. Rabinowitz sank down into a chair. "Did you hear how he sang?" The Cantor muttered. "The same like I taught him in the Synagogue—the same he used to sing to God—now he sings jazz." He stretched his hand forth on the table and picked up the prayer shawl duly. A fine birthday present I got. Bought with dirty money made from the theater. Burn it! Burn it!" He thrust the shawl from him with loathing.

"Yoselie, you're breaking my heart—and it's today your birthday. And I tried to be so happy."

"Happy! Happy! With a son like that!"

"Sure! Ain't it I'm trying to smile?" Mrs. Rabinowitz made a pitiful attempt, but her voice broke. "Ain't it you are mine man—my Cantor?"

"Sara, you are a good wife, and you were a good mother—but you don't deserve such a son as you got."

The Cantor buried his face in his arms on the table.

CHAPTER XI

Uptown in the Fulton Theatre the drab reality of a rehearsal was in progress. Four and twenty chorus girls backgrounded by nothing more inspiring than folded scenery leaning disinterestedly against dusty brick walls and gowned in nothing more provocative than blouses and trunks, bathing suits and negligees, were rehearsing a song, gyrated through their routine steps with lackadaisical precision. An upright piano to one side of the stage, before which was seated a musician, ground out a jazz tune over and over again until it lost heart and settled down into a monotonous jangling.

Out of the dim blackness of the auditorium rose rumblings of conversation, which meant that the author, the lyricist, the producer, the backer and the stars were each standing up for what he considered his rights. Stage hands in shirt sleeves lounged against the proscenium arch. Tiny flickers of lighted cigarettes rose and fell. Stale cigar smoke mingled with the odors of scrub women and soapy water. An old doorman with feet propped up on a bit of painted rock pulled dazedly on an unlighted pipe. "No smoking" signs hung disgruntled behind the rope lines of curtains and drops.

In and out, round and about, back and forth, across the stage the four and twenty girls moved, making vague attempts at shaking a tantalizing hip. But their only success seemed to lie in rousing a tantalized ballet master.

"For the love of Peter! Stop! Stop!" The girls halted wearily. The music rambled on. Jim Sparks, coatless, sleeves uprolled, hair standing on end, leaped up from the orchestra pit over the foot-lights and on to the stage. "What that damned music or," he yelled. The pianist swung round on his stool and nonchalantly lit a cigarette. "Say, where the hell do you think you are? At a funeral? My God! You'd make the best set of mourners I ever saw. A bunch of corpses! Put some pep in it. Shake yourself! Look here! Watch this!"

The chorus girls lounged to an indifferent attention while Sparks, humming the tune, twirled and pirouetted before them. He wriggled his hips; he flattered his hands; he agitated his shoulders. "Now, look!" he demanded. "Where is your damned sense? Move your right hip. Give it a quick jerk. Come on, try it again. Yeh, from the beginning," he turned to the pianist. "And come on you!" he included all the members of the chorus in a sweeping gesture. "Get some life into it—and don't be afraid of busting anything. Let's go!"

As the music started Sparks backed away and the girls whose more took up the steps, but now with an added vigor and interest. He turned to nod with approval at the three persons who had recently appeared in the wings and stood watching the group on the stage. "This ought to be a good number, Harry," Mary Dale, in practice rompers and ballet slippers, turned to the tall, rather heavy man beside her.

"Well, Sparks! Get it out of those girls if it's to be got." Harry Lee, the producer of "April Follies," chewed ruminantly on his cigar. "Say, you put that check through today, didn't you, Harry?" He turned to the immaculately dressed, slightly youngish man beside him.

"Yes, I've attended to all that. You can draw on it at any time now," Randolph Dillings replied. Money was helping to make the show possible, assented. "But, good Lord, Harry, can't you speed up that chorus a bit? They don't look as though they were ever going to be ready for a production."

"They're all right. Don't worry about them.

WASHINGTON DAY IS OBSERVED BY RICHMOND CLUB

Members of Richmond club yesterday afternoon were placed in intimate touch with the details of the signing of the Constitution of the United States, when Homer Patterson, local attorney gave the address on a specially arranged patriotic program.

The affair was under the direction of the civics department and Mrs. C. C. Kratzer, as chairman, had the introduction of the speaker at the afternoon.

Patterson, sketched the struggles of the colonies, dating briefly with even a leading up to the formation of the Constitution. The speaker pointed out that "some one has said that at no time did the country have as great statesmen as at the time of the forming of the Constitution." Patterson told his audience of certain "highlights" of the convention days, prior to the actual signing, and outlined the guarantees set forth by the Constitution. He continued "We have heard a great deal of comment lately on the lack of respect shown our Constitution. I feel that if one man breaks the 18th amendment, another has the right to break the fifth."

In closing, Patterson said: "There are very few disasters in a country that cannot be borne or overcome. If a war depletes a nation's manhood, another generation replaces it. If the very walls of our National Capitol should crumble it would be rebuilt, but what hand shall reconstruct the fabric of a demolished government? I like to feel the American people still have faith in their forefathers."

Mrs. J. H. Rumrill, presented an original number which included verses about each of the presidents of the United States. interspersed with solos "The Boston Tea Party" and "I Love You, California" by W. W. Chapin. Community singing included "Faith of Our Fathers," "Old Black Joe," "Tenting Tonight," "Battle Cry of Freedom" and "America" at appropriate places in the patriotic sketch.

At the close of the afternoon, refreshments were served by Mrs. J. E. Tarr, Mrs. William Patterson, Mrs. Harriet Oberholzer and Mrs. R. Teherassy.

"HER WILD OAT" HEADS BILL AT THE RICHMOND

Girls who are planning on seeking fame in Hollywood would do well to acquire skill in acrobatic work.

At least, Colleen Moore often is called upon to perform stunts demanding real athletic strength and skill.

The most recent requirements of this sort was made in "Her Wild Oat," Miss Moore's new comedy which opened yesterday at the Richmond Theatre. In one sequence of the story, she climbs down, slides down and otherwise descends a bedclothes ladder from a third story hotel window.

"It appears easy," says Colleen, "and it probably is to an acrobat, but I didn't enjoy the descent at all. And what's more," she concluded, "that third story seemed as high as the Woolworth Building."

Larry Kent heads the supporting cast in "Her Wild Oat," which John McCormick produced. Marshall Neff was the director. Hallam Cooley and Gwen Lee play important roles.

Other film features on the same program include "On the Front Page," a screamingly funny comedy; "Topics of the Day"; and "Aesop's Fables."

Don't Take Pills For Constipation

Ordinary pills taken to relieve constipation merely force a movement of the bowels without making the liver disgorge its excess bile. That's why the trouble returns in a day or two and you have to swallow more pills.

What every constipated person needs is a good liver tonic like Plantax to thoroughly cleanse the digestive system of all foul secretions and at the same time restore the torpid, lazy liver to proper working order. When this is done you will no longer have frequent headaches, coated tongue, yellow skin, sour stomach, gas, bilious attacks or other symptoms of constipation and liver trouble.

Plantax is made from the juices of harmless medicinal plants. Nature's own remedies that act in a mild, easy way without weakening or irritating the organs. Try it tonight. Large bottle $1 at La Moine Drug Co.

Art of Medicine Unknown In Large Part of Arabia

(By Universal Service)

JERUSALEM, Feb. 20.—Longevity is what every Mohammedan wishes, the blessing of a ripe old age being next only to the happiness in store in the Paradise of every good Moslem. Yet good health as a vehicle of long life in Yemen, one great country of Arabia, completely ignored.

According to an American traveler recently returned from the Yemen, the art of medicine there is hardly practiced at all. This falling is surprising in view of the general facility of most Moslems in the methods of healing. In the Yemen, due to the lack of doctors, if one falls sick he suffers, and if he becomes "sicker" he dies.

Infant mortality is enormous, but the children who survive grow up to be very sturdy men and women.

Sanaa, the capital and stronghold of the Yemen, is practically inaccessible, yet the Imam, of King, of today who rules over the country in very much the same way as monarchs ruled there since long before the time of the Queen of Sheba, can never seem to be doing enough to fortify the place and prepare against aggression.

Iman Yahia's most formidable enemy is of course Ibn Saud, King of the Hedjaz and of Nejd, the virtual Master of Arabia. While Ibn Saud rules a more or less homogeneous people, the Wahabis, Imam Yahia has three distinct communities—the indigenous Arabs, Arabs, who are said to have come from the North and who, although they have lived there as long as can be remembered, are still regarded as "barbarians" and the Jews.

In Yemen, said this traveler, the stranger meets with suspicion. The houses are constructed primarily for defence, the ground floor being reserved for animals the first floor for grain and the other stories on which the people live, have only small apertures designed it seems as rests for the muzzles of the rifles.

Like most Arabs, even the most pious, the Yemenites are great gamblers, their particular vice being the game of "kat."

DeGiacomina Dies After Car Crash

Funeral services for Andrea DeGiacomina, 419 South Thirty-eighth street, who passed away at the Cottage hospital Sunday morning, due to a puncture of the lungs received when struck by a machine at the corner of Cutting boulevard and Thirty-eighth street last Saturday, will be held from St. John's church, El Cerrito at 10 o'clock this morning. The funeral procession will leave from the chapel of Wilson and Kratzer at 9:30 o'clock, thence to the church for the services and burial will be made in St. Joseph's cemetery.

DeGiacomina was struck by a machine driven by Mrs. Aurora Thompson as he was crossing the street, and when taken to the Abbott Emergency hospital was found to be suffering from two broken ribs. An autopsy by Dr. L. St. John Hely revealed that the broken rib and punctured lung caused death.

J. Volasco, 133 Santa Fe avenue, who was driving behind Mrs. Thompson when the accident occurred stated that the accident

PROGRESS OF FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH TOLD

Arrival of the pews for the new First Baptist church to be dedicated March 11, was announced yesterday, and work of installation is being rushed on the new $75,000 building.

At the Sunday services Rev. Weldon M. Wilson, pastor of the church preached his first anniversary sermon. The church was crowded and seventeen members from Rev. Wilson's former church in Oakland were present to greet him. Special music was furnished by Miss Geraldine Quimby of Berkeley who played two piano solos, and accompanied Miss Virginia Dodson when she sang two solos. In his sermon Rev. Wilson chose to call his address "Shop Talk" in which he revealed some interesting statistics gathered from his observations since his pastorate here.

He indicated that there were 11,000 churches of the Methodist, Presbyterian, and Baptist creeds in this country that had not had a single convert during the whole year. He compared this record with his own church which had 65 baptisms and enough other new members to make the total membership for the year reach the mark of 102.

Attendance at the services of the church showed that there was an average of 158 for the morning service, 192 at the evening services, and 67 at the mid-week prayer meetings throughout the year.

A total of $17,000 had been given by the members of the church toward benevolent and other offerings of the church. Rev. Wilson challenged the congregation to stand by him, the new church and his program of christian education.

ARCADIA—Building permits issued here during January totaled $29,100.

HUGE LIGHT ON MT. DIABLO TO FLASH BEACON

A beam of light, with a candle power of ten million at its source will soon be flashing the heavens of northern California as a guide to night-flying aviators. It will come from an electric aviation beacon placed on the top of Mt. Diablo by the Standard Oil Company of California. A similar light will be placed in the Merced Hills, Los Angeles county, just north of the town of Montebello. Both of these lights are being erected by the Standard Oil Company at the suggestion of the United States Department of Commerce, which is engaged in installing airways throughout the country.

It is expected that Mt. Diablo light will become one of the most famous aviation beacons in the country. Geographers state that there is no point in the world, with the possible exception of one in Africa, that has a greater visibility than Mt. Diablo. This is due to its height and the fact that it is surrounded by great areas of level land, with the broad Pacific to the westward.

make a ruling within the next few days. Announcement was also made that War Department approval will be sought immediately, with plans for the structure to be presented to government executives in San Francisco.

The ferry company's plea for favorable action on the franchise application was renewed by Attorney L. P. Green and Henry Jacobs. Declaring that the action of the board of supervisors at the time when Long's application was approved did not specifically deny the ferry company's bid, Green asked for permission to reopen the hearing and asked the right to lay before the supervisors the negotiations carried on between Long and ferry company executives for the purchase of the ferry system.

Chairman W. J. Buchanan responded that the ferry sale negotiations were aside from the formal hearing on the applications before the supervisors and declined reopening of the hearing.

Supervisor Zeb Knott of Richmond, then introduced a motion to grant a franchise to the ferry company, but it failed for lack of a second.

Supervisor R. J. Trembath then presented a motion denying the company's franchise application and it passed with four favorable votes. Knott dissenting to the action.

Following the hearing Charles Van Damme ferry company had declared that all negotiations for purchase of the ferry by Long and his associates were at an end and indicated that some further action on the company's suit for a bridge franchise might be anticipated.

Audience Enjoys Tuneful Airs And Chorus Dances

of filmy black mesh. Dorothy Heineman and Grace Childs impersonated "Two Little Honey-Bees" in a delightful dance. These two little girls are pupils of Miss Matilda Meyer. Their dance added much to the scene in which they appeared and the audience manifested its pleasure in their performance by much applause.

Lucien Kneeland played the part of Perunah, the forceful, but affectionate Shah, who had a large sense of humor. Too much credit cannot be given to the manner in which this character was presented.

Archie Winchole as Semecraba, the self-centered Arabian Sheik, had the admiration of all those who witnessed the performance for his excellent acting even though he was "the villain in the play."

The fat ladies of the harem were a "knock-out" it was agreed by all who viewed the spectacle. Their good-natured countenances failed to cheer up the sheik, but it was no fault of theirs that he was immersed in gloom. Their dancing was one of the hits of the evening.

The plot of the opera was not too heavy, just enough to carry the pleasing melodies and arrange for the dances. But there was plenty of romance and comedy and the audience left feeling that it had enjoyed more than two hours of a production that could not have been better presented by professionals.

Two young engineers, Ted Harding and Billy Cummings and their servant Samuel Johnson (a gentleman of color from Texas) entered the Garden of the Shah of Persia. Amid gorgeous Oriental settings, Ted sees Zohdah, daughter of the Shah and falls in love with her and Billy Cummings falls in love with Loklah, Zohdah's friend and confidant. Nowobeh, Zohdah's nurse insists that Samuel Johnson is her African prince.

The Shah returns and with him is a neighboring sheik. The sheik asks for the hand of the Shah's daughter in marriage and is accepted as a suitor. This does not please the Americans nor does it fall in with the plans of the Shah's daughter, who returns the love of the young mining engineer Ted Harding. The Shah finds that the Semecraba, the Arabian Sheik's wealth is not as representative and that he is about to abdicate his throne so the marriage is off. However, this does not help the cause of the young Americans.

as the Shah's ire has been roused by their presumption in seeking the hand of his daughter and her friend in marriage. The Shah orders the Americans put in his darkest dungeon deep, thereby causing his daughter and her friend to grieve. Being a human at heart and having a great deal of love for his daughter, his mind is in a state of unrest. Even the performances of the beautiful dancing girls of the harem and the fat ladies of the harem arouse in him neither interest nor mirth.

The crafty Nowobeh, Zohdah's old nurse, who claims to be a sorceress, tells him that she has a dream and that the Shah himself stood at the crossroads—to wealth or to poverty—that if he destroys the Americans his gold mines will not be worked and he will be poverty stricken, but that if he will spare their lives the mines will yield an immense amount of wealth which will bring to him great power. Finally the Shah gives his consent to the liberation of the mining engineers and their servant and in the meantime the Sheik has chosen one of the beautiful dancing girls of the harem as his bride to be. Sam, the colored gentleman from Texas, finally becomes reconciled to the diet of "dates" and to the pursuing Nowobeh.

WALNUT CREEK BOOTLEGGER KILLS SELF

WALNUT CREEK, Feb. 20.—P. S. McDonald, 38, Walnut Creek insurance agent and the father of three children, terminated a domestic quarrel last night at his home on Oakland Boulevard, by placing the muzzle of a .32 calibre revolver in his mouth and pulling the trigger. He died before Dr. Arthur Beebe, summoned by his wife, Erma, reached the home.

Mrs. McDonald told investigating officers that her husband's suicide occurred after a violent quarrel during which he accused her of infidelity. McDonald naming an old family friend, Mrs. McDonald told officials her husband had been drinking and said there were no grounds for the accusation.

Discovery of a secret staircase leading from the bedroom to disposure of a fifty gallon liquor still in an especially constructed cellar adjoining the garage of the home. Six mash barrels lined the walls. Mrs. McDonald told officials that her husband had been engaged in the illicit manufacture of liquor for the last six months.

According to District Attorney A. B. Tinning her husband had been drinking heavily during the day and quarrelled with her during the evening. When they were retiring he resumed the quarrel, accused her of infidelity and told her she would have to leave.

Suddenly he produced a pistol, but Mrs. McDonald prevented it from being fired. McDonald ejected a cartridge and put the gun to his mouth. Mrs. McDonald declared that she believed the gun was then empty and made no attempt to halt the suicide try.

The couple's three children, sleeping in adjoining rooms, were aroused by the shot. Mrs. McDonald summoned Dr. Beebe and the physician called Constable Harry Stow.

District Attorney Tinning, Deputy Sheriffs Dike Joslin, J. M. Joseph and Clyde Laird were called to participate in the investigation.

The man with whom her husband accused her of being intimate was an old family friend. Mrs. McDonald declared, Tuesday, he arrived unexpectedly from Vacaville, New Mexico, and paid the family a surprise visit, remaining a day and then returning to New Mexico.

McDonald was the father of Leroy, 17, a student at Oakland Technical High School, Joyce, 6, and Carmine, 10.

spoken in their demand for the latter provision at this morning's hearing complaining of a recent narrow escape of the liner Maui, at the Carquinez bridge. Building of fenders at the Carquinez span to protect the piers was demanded by the American Toll Bridge Co. at the direction of the War Department, which declined to approve of any plan until the bridge should be built. The fender plan has been approved and bids for the construction of the pier protectors are to be opened next Thursday.

The Richmond-San Rafael Bridge, Inc., successful applicants for the lower San Pablo Bay span have announced their intention of asking the War Department to amend its procedure to permit of approval being given for the building of the fenders while the piers are being sunk the same procedure that is to be required of Tomasini by the Alameda county supervisors.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there is no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless. Card works so well. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

Ed Sullivan's SPORT WHIRL

HARKING BACK TO OLD TIMES

It seems like old times, as I sit down to the typewriter to try and put together a readable sports column, as pinch hitter for Sullivan. True, the fingers are not as nimble on the keys as they were a few years ago, nor do the ideas of things interesting in the sports world exude prolifically from a brain filled with a jumble of police statistics and other matters pertaining to the annual report of the Police Department of the city of New York, which must very soon go to press.

The drifted years vanish, and in memory again I am in the old Evening Mail office on City Hall Place, and a young kid of 16 or 17 is standing beside the typewriter talking with me and telling me that he is Ed Sullivan from Port Chester, and that he is helping out the editor of our school page. But I know, and Ed Sullivan knows, how long ago this was—almost ten years, when I was trying to fill the void left by the departure of Grantland Rice, as sports columnist of the Evening Mail. And now here I am, filling in for Ed, just for today.

MR. SINNOTT MAKES A SENTIMENTAL JOURNEY

The surest trail to an Irishman's heart is one that is flower-bordered with sentiment. And so when Ed Sullivan asked me to undertake this pinch hitting task, and knew that because of press of other business it was a difficult one for me to assume, he said: "Why don't you write of Ross Young. They are raising a fund now to place a memorial tablet in his honor on the right field wall at the Polo Grounds."

With your kind indulgence, gentle reader, I therefore take advantage of this opportunity, through the courtesy of Ed Sullivan to write of one of the greatest baseball players of all time, whose greatness, because of his innate modesty, and his style of play, which was for the team, for the Giants always, rather than for individual averages, was never appreciated in his lifetime, and certainly is not adequately appreciated now that he is dead, save among ball players themselves.

Ross Young was 31 years of age when he died in San Antonio, Tex., his home city, just a few months ago. During his career of nine years in the National League he played with but one team, the Giants. And I think that John J. McGraw will agree that over the sweep of those years Young contributed more than any individual on the Giants' roster to the success of the club that won four National League pennants in a row.

FIGURES DO NOT SHOW YOUNG'S GREATNESS

He hit under .300 only once, in the years when to .300 meant something, and that was in 1925, when the illness that resulted in his untimely death, first manifested itself. But with courage that was characteristic of him, he came back the next year, and although too ill to play the entire season out, again batted over .300.

It is hard to visualize the greatness of Ross Young as a ball player by cold, hard figures. He was a team player, and not an individualist. He could hit, run, field and throw with the great of the game. Yet his averages in every phase of play, good as they were, were lowered by his playing to win ball games rather than to keep his percentages high.

He was one of the last of a type of player rapidly vanishing from the diamond. No breath of scandal ever touched him. He never failed to run out any ball he hit, never failed to slide, although the ball had beaten him to the bag, and tried for every ball hit within his reach. Baseball was his chosen profession, and he had no time or thoughts of other things, for petty conniving, for horse racing, for theatricals, for carousing, for anything but the game during the season.

McGRAW TRIED TO MAKE HIM AN INFIELDER

I remember well the first day he reported to John J. McGraw at Matlin Springs, Tex. That was in 1916, if memory serves me right. He was a little stocky youngster, just out of high school, and was an infielder. McGraw had bought him from some little Southwestern league for little or nothing, and spent many an hour trying to make a third baseman of him.

He didn't stick with the Giants. McGraw sent him to Rochester with the understanding that he would be made into an outfielder, and that he would be broken of his habit of hitting right handed against southpaw pitching, as he was so fast and had such a good eye and free swing from the left side, that the Giant leader believed that he should follow in the footsteps of Speaker and Cobb, and become one of the great left-handed batsmen of the game.

After a fine season in the International League, Young reported back to McGraw in Chicago, before the Giant-White Sox World's Series of 1917. The next year he became the regular Giant right fielder and held that post until illness laid him low.

PEP HAD THE TRUE AMATEUR'S SPIRIT

He had in him the love of the game for the game's sake, which is supposed to be, but seldom is, the sterling attribute of the amateur athlete.

By all means let us have a tablet on the right field wall at the Polo Grounds to honor the memory of Ross Young. My sense of loss in his passing is a deep and personal one, but I am sure that even before his death, during the past season, the Giant fans missed keenly the presence of Pep.

He has gone to the Valhalla of the valiant. Yet, when springtime comes again, perhaps its gentle winds will carry back to the shadow of Coogan's Bluff from the City of the Alamo the spirit of the greatest of all Giant right fielders, and he will know that New York has not too soon forgotten Ross Young, "the pride of San Antonio."

Uzcudum Undergoes Heavy Training For L. A. Bout

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20.—Giants naturally have giant appetites.

Paulino Uzcudum is some forty pounds lighter than George Godfrey, but the Basques are known all over Europe as big eaters.

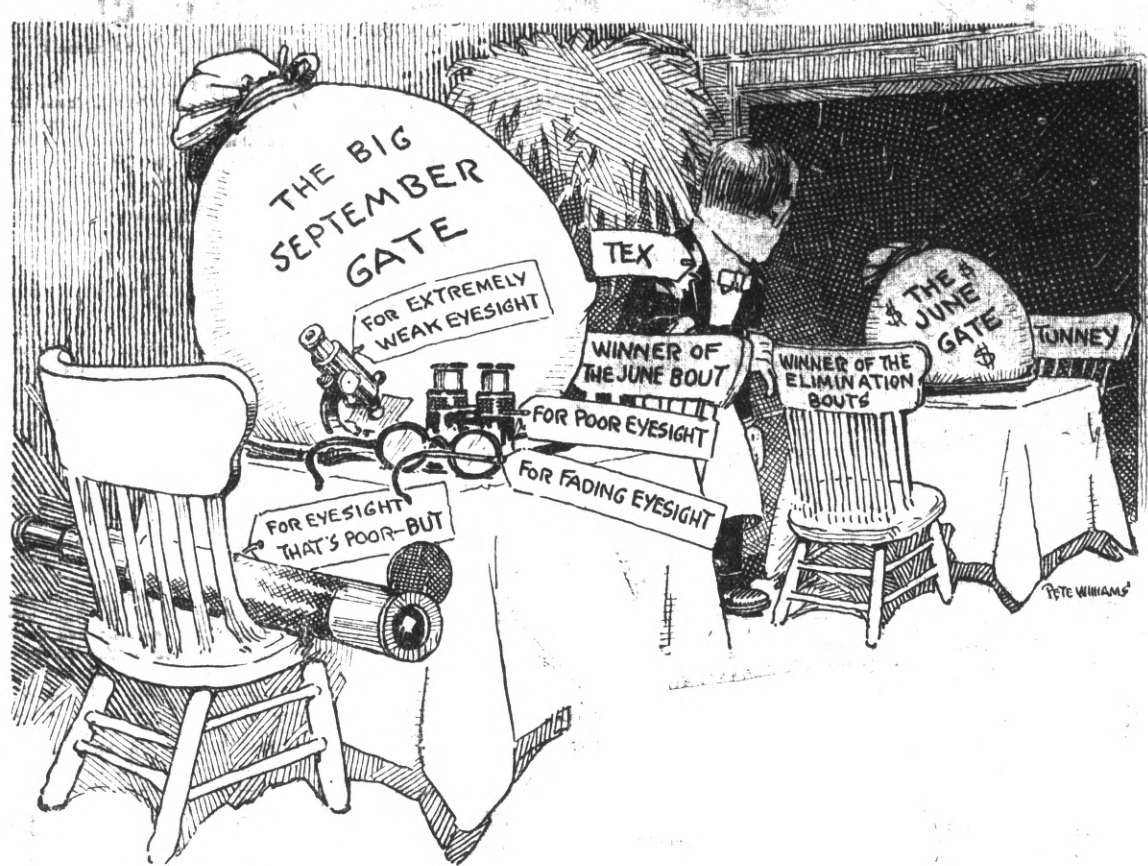

So far in training Paulino is not moving second to Godfrey at the dinner table.

The favored food of both is a steak as big as a typewriter topped off with a half dozen fried eggs.

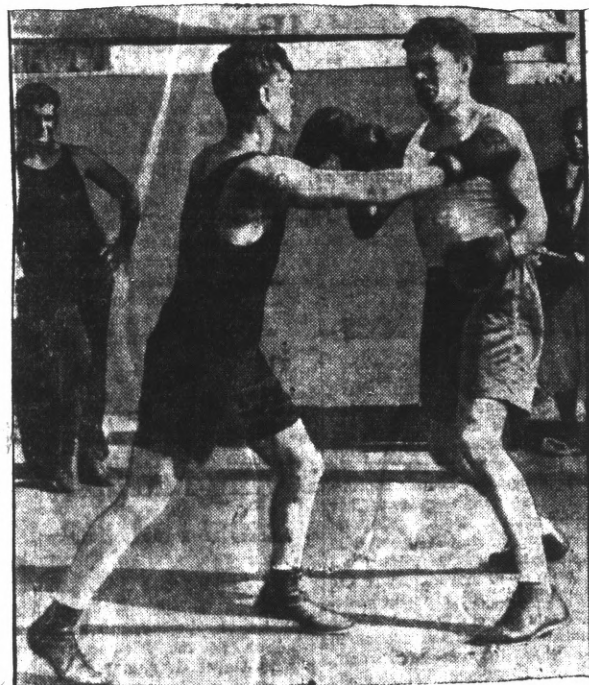

It would be expected that the Basque would crave his Spanish dishes. But he forgoes all rich food while in training.

At the Bastanchury ranch where the complete layout is given to him without cost a Spanish chef has been installed with orders to cook nothing but simple, unseasoned foods.

The routine of the two giants follows: Paulino rises at 7 a. m. A bit of orange juice is waiting for him which he drinks. Next comes three miles of road work. He isn't a better skelter fellow on the road, Big men can't afford to waste too much energy on the hills.

Warming Up For?

HERE IS LATEST PHOTO of Gene Tunney, who is training at his new camp in Miami, Fla., for the scrap in defense of his heavyweight championship next summer. Gene does not know whom he will fight, but in the meantime Jack Britton, shown with the champ, is getting a favorable impression of the ex-marine's condition.

Santa Fe Trainmen Hold Business Meet

Matters of interest were discussed at the meeting of Yosemite lodge No. 566 engineers and firemen of the Santa Fe valley division in Brotherhood hall. Headquarters of this lodge were formerly at Calwa. Firemen on account of their duties keeping them on the road, are unable to be present at a given meeting in large numbers without tying up the traffic. President C. G. Pearl presided and Secretary C. W. Smith was at the desk.

Lewis Wins Long Match

ST. LOUIS, Mo. Feb. 21.—"Strangler" Ed Lewis won the third and deciding fall in his match with Joe Stecher in 12 minutes and 50 seconds of tussling. The fall gave Lewis undisputed claim to the world's wrestling championship. The fall was negotiated with a double wrist lock and body hold.

The famous match started at the Coliseum here at 10 o'clock and was not decided until 1:30 this morning.

GOLDEN BEARS AND CARD CAGE SERIES TONITE

BERKELEY, Feb. 20.—Four football players, two on a side, will be in the lineups of Stanford and California when they meet Tuesday night in the first game of their annual basketball series on the court of Kezar Stadium, San Francisco.

Stanford will be represented by Smalling, who plays offensive center for the Cards during basketball season and full back during the fall. The other football players in their line-up as announced today is Louis Vincent, end and forward.

The two Dougery brothers of California perform as brilliantly upon the court as they do upon the gridiron. Ralph, who is a fullback, plays forward for Nibs Price now, while Jim, stellar end of the past two seasons, is captain and guard of the Bruin five.

Stanford has two centers on its combination, Rothert, who jumps and then falls back to guard position and Smalling, who plays center in the offensive formations.

Nibs Price, the California coach, will be able to put his strongest team on the floor now that Ralph Dougery and Perry TenEyck, his best combination, have recovered from injuries. TenEyck injured his leg in the last U. C. L. A. game, while Dougery has now fully recovered from an injury received in the contest with the Olympic Club.

Stanford is strengthened by the return of Clark, star forward of two seasons ago, who did not compete last year. As yet the Cards have no captain, but will probably elect a leader before their series with the Bears open.

The line-ups will be: CALIFORNIA—R. Dougery, forward; TenEyck, forward; Corbin, center; J. Dougery, (c), guard; Gregory, guard.

STANFORD—Clark, forward; Vincent, forward; Rothert, center; Smalling, guard; Thompson, guard.

Substitutes: California—Tripp, Peterson; Dean; Elsan; Stevens; Ehmman; Clymer; Rucker; Mills; Boyd; Iverson.

Stanford—Bowers; Berg; Elliott; Cook; Blaggett; Richards; Olson; Bryant; Dobson; Stewart.

HAYWARD—Work to begin on final out of $90,000 outfall sewer for Hayward.

LOCAL Y. L. I. DEFEATED BY ALAMEDA TEAM

That women's basketball games are not all mild and dull affairs was ably demonstrated last night when the girls of the Richmond Young Ladies Institute lost a hoily-contested game to the Alameda Y. L. I. by the narrow margin of one point. The final score was 17 to 16 in the victory favor, but they were not sure of the game until the last minute had passed. One minute before the final whistle Miss Berk of the Richmond girls threw a basket to make the score stand 19 to 13 in her favor, but the Alamedans came right back and put in two more to make the total 17.

The crowd was in an uproar throughout the last quarter of the contest and when the whistle had blown, ending the game there was a sigh of relief by all of those present.

The game was played in the Roosevelt Junior High School court, before the largest crowd that has turned out to see a girls' basketball game this season.

Helen Maloney for the Richmondites made the highest score with 8 points to her credit. Theresa Novarini was second with 6, and Cecelia Desmond made 2 points. For the visitors Miss Lewis made 11 points and Miss Stockler made 5 points.

Richmond played Helen Maloney, (8); Cecelia Desmond (2); Theresa Novarini (6); Beck, Carey, Mary Gately, Alice Maloney, Helen Gately.

Alameda—Stockler (8); Lewis (11); Sikora, Purcell, Mahoney, and Walsh.

THE MAN that polishes the windows in the towering office buildings laughs at the fears of the onlookers in the street. A simple safety device anchors him securely to his job. The man that places his valuables in an American Trust Company safe deposit box may laugh at the dangers of fire and theft. PT. RICHMOND ALLEGED RUM DRUIDS FETE SHIP CAPTURED ANNIVERSARY

The third anniversary of the Pt. Richmond circle No. 123 of the United Ancient Order of Druids was celebrated at a session held by the members in Druids hall.

After a business session conducted by Archduke Josephine Boncorso, a program was presented which included a variety of musical numbers and several dances. Talks on the good of the order were given by the district deputy, Joseph Parodi, by Mr. Parodi, by the past archduke, Mrs. Fischer, and the grand guardian, Charles Ceridono.

After the dance a grab bag was held and then a banquet was served. Red, white and blue decorations were used to honor the birthday of George Washington. In the hall, streamers came from all sides, and met in the center, and on the table, favors in red, white and blue, carried out the color scheme. A picture of George Washington was on each favor. Mrs. Violet Green was in charge of the decorations.

Mrs. Marie Ceridono was in charge of the evening assisted by Mrs. Felicia Novarini, Mrs. Santini, Mrs. Tille Summers and Mrs. Green.

The Elma, Coast Guard officials say, is not unknown to them. About a year ago she went aground on Duxbury Reef and its crew signalled for help. Before a cutter arrived, officials declared, the cargo on the boat was dumped. The cutter pulled the boat from the reef. Later the Elma is said to have returned to the scene.

Selma, of the Elma, Coast Guard officials declared, followed investigations of the activity of the rum runner Malahat.

New Books Received At Richmond Public Library

"PROHIBITION"—Is viewed in its economic and industrial aspects by Mr. Feldman, who's statistics show the benefits of its effects upon consumption on purchasing power and upon production in industry, to outweigh any other effect it may be said to have had. The book is readable in every way and full of interesting facts that it is going to know when the other fellow says the Eighteenth Amendment is a failure.

"GENIUS AND CHARACTER"—Is a volume of short sketches of various men of note, by Emil Ludwig who is known in America for his biographies of Napoleon and Mischak. Having in mind Voltaire's distinction between great men and "merely heroes," he writes with psychological insight. The two Americans included are Stanley, the man who found Livingston, and Woodrow Wilson.

"FUN WITH CARDS"—Tells how to play thirty kinds of solitaire and how to do about the same number of card tricks. The last forty pages are devoted to instructions on how to tell fortunes with cards.

"THE AMERICAN NOVEL OF TODAY"—By Regis Michaud is a Frenchman's view of the social and psychological aspects of the novel as written by Dreiser, Sinclair Lewis, Sherwood Anderson, Cabell and others. Michaud was for several years a member of the University of California faculty.

"STORY OF THE AMERICAN INDIAN"—By Paul Radin the anthropologist, is a unique book of its kind. A great deal has been written about the Indian but here we have in one readable volume, a connected account of the Mayas of Central America, the Incas of Peru, the Toltecs, and Aztecs of Mexico, the Mound-Builders of the Middle West and the Cliff-dwellers and the Pueblo Indians of the Southwest. Dr. Radin traces their probable connection, the heights of the civilizations and their final decline.

"THE RIVER AND I"—Is John D. Neihardt's account of a two thousand mile trip, on the Missouri river which he made in a small boat. Starting from Great Falls, Montana and passing through the Dakotas he arrived at Sioux City after two months time, having rowed continual head winds for fourteen hundred miles of the journey.

"USEFUL WILD PLANTS"—This is a new edition of a book published some years ago. Written by Chas. F. Saunders it describes the edible wild plants of the United States and Canada and those of value for their medicinal qualities. The book will be of interest and value to those who go camping in the summer.

"ASTRONOMY TODAY"—By Th. Moreux is a non-technical account of the earth, sun, moon and stars as up-to-date astronomers see them.

"INDIGESTION"—A sensible discussion of what indigestion is and how it can be prevented by Dr. Arthur Holland of Cornell University Medical College.

"THE JOURNAL OF WILLIAM MACLAY"—Here is a book for the reader who's hobby is American life and manners. William MacLay was U. S. Senator from Pennsylvania, 1789 to 1791 and he has been called the original Jeffersonian illuminating pictures of his great contemporaries and gives us glimpses of the private life of the times which are unequalled.

"OLIVER CROMWELL"—A character study by John Drinkwater. "THE S. P. A. NISH-AMERICAN FRONTIER, 1783-1795"—The westward movement and the Spanish retreat in the Mississippi Valley, by Arthur Whitaker.

$50,000 Suit Filed By Woman

Damage of $50,000 for injuries she sustained in an automobile collision at Thirty-ninth and Florida streets, Richmond, on January 24, are asked by Mrs. Pauline Geska in a suit she instituted in Marlines today against Fred Meyers, owner of a Richmond water system, and his son, August. Mrs. Geska charges that an automobile driven by the younger Meyers, jarring the course of his employment by his father, crashed into her car because of Meyers' negligent driving.

Mrs. Geska declares that she suffered from shock and sustained injuries that make a Caesarean operation imperative. In addition to the damage verdict she asks to be reimbursed $1700 for medical expenses.

"I'd snub like to shake that Shik"—GARDEN OF THE SHAH.

Parole Fought For Felon Who Attempted To Escape Jail

MARTINEZ, Feb. 18.—Pointing out that a crime of violence was committed, District Attorney A. B. Tinning has written the California prison board board that he can "see no reason" why Bert Garrett, robber, should be paroled from Folsom penitentiary, where he is serving a ten years to life sentence for holding up and robbing Virgil Reed, a Richmond photographer in 1918 in company with Irene Johnson.

Recalling that Garrett attempted to slay Deputy Sheriff Don Williams in a futile try at jail escape after his conviction, sheriffs officers indicated today that they, too, will urge the prison board to deny Garrett's plea for parole, scheduled for hearing on April 14.

BEAT RICHMOND MAN
Garrett beat, bound and gagged the Richmond photographer. He was convicted in record time by a jury but his accomplice was freed.

While awaiting transportation to prison Garrett attacked Williams with a gas pipe as he entered the felons' department but Williams stood him off with drawn pistol. Authorities here claim Garrett has thrice been convicted of felony offenses.

E. W. Brown, also convicted in this county in 1921, and sentenced to a term of fourteen years for assault with intent to commit a statutory offense, will also appear before the parole board on April 14.

Richmond Matron Injured In Fall

Mrs. E. H. Brown, 163 Fourteenth street, sustained severe body bruises and cuts about her head when she lost her footing and tumbled down the steps of her home. The injured woman fell a distance of about fourteen feet and landed on a concrete slab. Dr. H. L. Carpenter attended Mrs. Brown, and she is reported to be on her way to recovery.

The convention will last from February 26 to March 1, and the program has been arranged for by Joseph Marr Gwinn, superintendent of schools in San Francisco.

Helms is chairman of the board of tellers of the department. The report is that San Francisco may be selected as the convention city for the next yearly meeting.
